Angie Hughes

Angie Hughes is an artist and tutor from Ledbury in the beautiful county of Herefordshire. Her work is largely influenced by the natural world particularly plant forms.

Studying City & Guilds Embroidery in the 90's taught her to experiment with different materials and techniques and this would be the way that she would always start projects in future years. She has spent time honing her skills on the sewing machine, all of her pieces have machine embroidery somewhere.

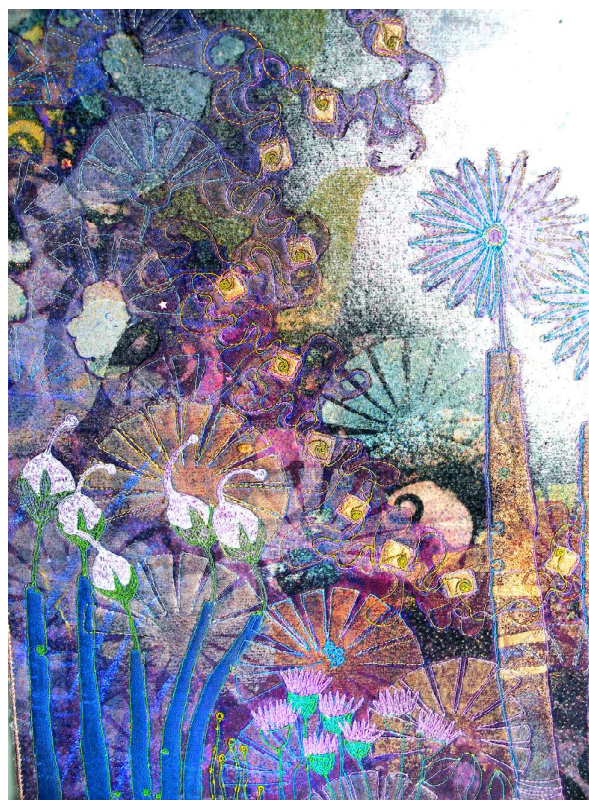

A friend describes her as a process based artist. She would agree - always enjoying placing a pile of paints, printing blocks and fabrics on her work table to ponder ways of making something new and exciting. This kind of jigsaw process is reflected in her current work.

This year has seen Angie teaching in France with Sweet Nothings and Crafty Retreats as well as whizzing around the UK teaching guilds and stitchers groups.

2019 has also seen Angie returning to exhibiting in Herefordshire Galleries and in 2020 a small collection of pieces will be seen at the Found Gallery in Brecon.
